ABSTRACT

I carried out my industrial training program at Busitema University Arapai Campus from 28th/02/2022 to 28th/04/2020. The FAAS of BUAC designed this field attachment with an intension of developing capacity of students pursuing various skills in animal production and management, crop production and management as well as serving as the fulfilment for the award of a Certificate in General Agriculture.

This report is formulated of four chapters which carry different information.

Chapter one contains and describes the background, location, objectives and field of business of the Busitema farm.

Chapter two explains and describes the departments of attachment, familiarization phase, and task description during the internship. It also explains all the activities that were carried out during the internship like castration, spraying, general cleaning, deworming, dehorning animal monitoring and treatment, budding, grafting, potting of seedlings.

Chapter three contains the skills gained during the internship, responsibilities undertaken, influence of industrial training to the student's future career, and correlation of the internship activities with the classroom knowledge

Chapter four contains conclusions and recommendations

1.0 CHAPTER ONE; INTRODUCTION

1.1 Definition.

The internship program started on 28/ February 2022 and ended on 28/April/2022 {For 9 weeks}. Internship is one of the modules offered by students as an attribute to the award of a Certificates, Diplomas, and Degrees. And it's mainly for advancing students to gain more skills and knowledge mainly in practical. And it also helped to socialize students with the other community people since they go to different training centres/ farms.

1.2 Background.

Busitema University Arapai Campus is found in Uganda, Eastern Uganda Region, Teso sub region, Soroti District Arapai Sub county 8 kilometer along soroti-moroto highway. The internship was carried out in both the Animal and crop fields of the campus i.e. the animal farm and plantations like bananas, orchards etc.

1.3 Purpose and objectives

- ❖ To build confidence in students.
- ❖ To enable students benefit from the skills of the field.
- ❖ To share experience between the farmers and students
- ❖ .To enable students apply classroom knowledge in the fields.

1.4 Methodology.

During the internship program, the students had to apply to various training institutions/ farms for their internship/ industrial training whereby they were given acceptance letters which they submitted to Busitema University Arapai Campus for the directives during assessment

While in the implementation of the internship program, there were some ethical considerations that were to be observed by the students while working with the farmers, supervisors and community. Some of these were;

- Students were expected to always actively participate in the activities since it was aimed at gaining skills and knowledge
