Abstract:

My report has description of specific department of attachment, the objectives of industrial training, the background of the district veterinary office, the activities performed during the industrial training, task description, and the full title of the department, the conclusions and the recommendations.

The main reason for doing industrial training is to practically learn the theories that were taught in the lecture room in order to gain skills and courage when working in the field with farmers. I was attached to the Tororo district local government, under the department of production, in the sub sector of veterinary with doctor Ronald Muyomba Mugabi who is the district veterinary officer as my field supervisor. During my industrial training I participated fully in carrying out activities like castration, debeaking, handling a distocia case, deworming of animals, carrying out prophylactic treatment on animals, training of farmers in poultry, piggery production and others and with the knowledge and skills I obtained from it, I am now able to carry out field activities without any fear.
